Commenting on the results, Mr. Anuj Jain, Managing Director, Kansai Nerolac Paints Ltd said, "The quarter witnessed good demand in Automotive coatings. Demand in Decorative was impacted on account of early Diwali, extended monsoons and higher than normal channel stocking due to price increases during Oct 21& Nov21.

Raw material prices showed a decline during the quarter. The quarter continued to witness high exchange volatility with the rupee sharply depreciating further.

The company was able to conclude the price increases with all its key OEMs during the quarter which will help partly offset the high inflation witnessed over the last two years.

The company initiated various measures to increase growth in decorative. The measures include increase in feet on street, digital interventions, network expansion, new product launches and brand strengthening.

Judicious management of costs and overheads continued.

Looking forward it is expected that demand would remain healthy in the short to medium term".

Outlook of Indian Paint Industry:

The size of domestic paint industry is estimated at around Rs. 60000 crores as of March 2022. The good growth in infrastructure, core sector as well as automobile and real estate is likely to have a positive effect on the overall demand of paint for the industry in the long run.
